CONTRACTOR CUTS BID AND GETS JOB OF BUILDING BRIDGE

Simpson-Parker Co. Lops $1,100 Off Estimate for Little Chute Structure

The contract for construction of a bridge over the Fox river canal at Little Chute was awarded to the Simpson-Parker Construction company of Appleton for $47,240 at a special meeting of the county highway committee Monday afternoon at the courthouse.

The local company won the contract when it agreed to reduce its bid submitted last week by $1,100 so the entire cost of bridge, including the engineers' fee of 10 per cent could be paid out of a county board appropriation of $52,000.

Members of the highway committee pointed out that in addition to the contract price, a 10 per cent fee for the engineers and several smaller items had to be paid out of the original appropriation and if the contract was awarded to Simpson-Parker on the original estimate of $48,340 the $52,000 appropriation would not be sufficient.

A first set of bids was rejected because they were too high and the Appleton contracting company was low when the second set of bids were opened.

Construction is to be started immediately and the super-structure is to be completed by April 1 so that it will not be necessary to postpone opening of navigation.

The old bridge is to be moved to the west and will provide for traffic while the new structure is being installed. It is expected that the new bridge will be completed and open to traffic early in May.

ACTIVE PROGRAM AT CLOVERLEAF SCHOOL

Parent-Teacher Association Activities Attract Attention and Crowds

Cloverleaf school, joint no. 3, town of Dale, has one of the most active Parent-Teacher associations in the county, according to A. C. Meating, county superintendent of schools. Although the association was formed only last September, it has held four meetings which attracted large number of parents and others interested.

Programs at each of the meetings are based on material taken from the book, "Rural Life at the Crossroads." Two weeks ago the school was moved from the old building to a new structure which was completed at a cost of $7,000. Construction of the new building was started last summer and it was expected that it would be ready when the fall school term opened but unexpected delays hampered the work and it was not completed until two weeks ago.

Plans for dedicating the new building are being made, according to Miss Helen Gillespie, teacher, although the date will not be set until the state educational department has been heard from.

Almost 200 people were present at a hard times party sponsored by the association on Jan. 12. About 140 of these present were in costume. The new school building has a kitchen and at future meetings of the association it will be possible to serve lunches.

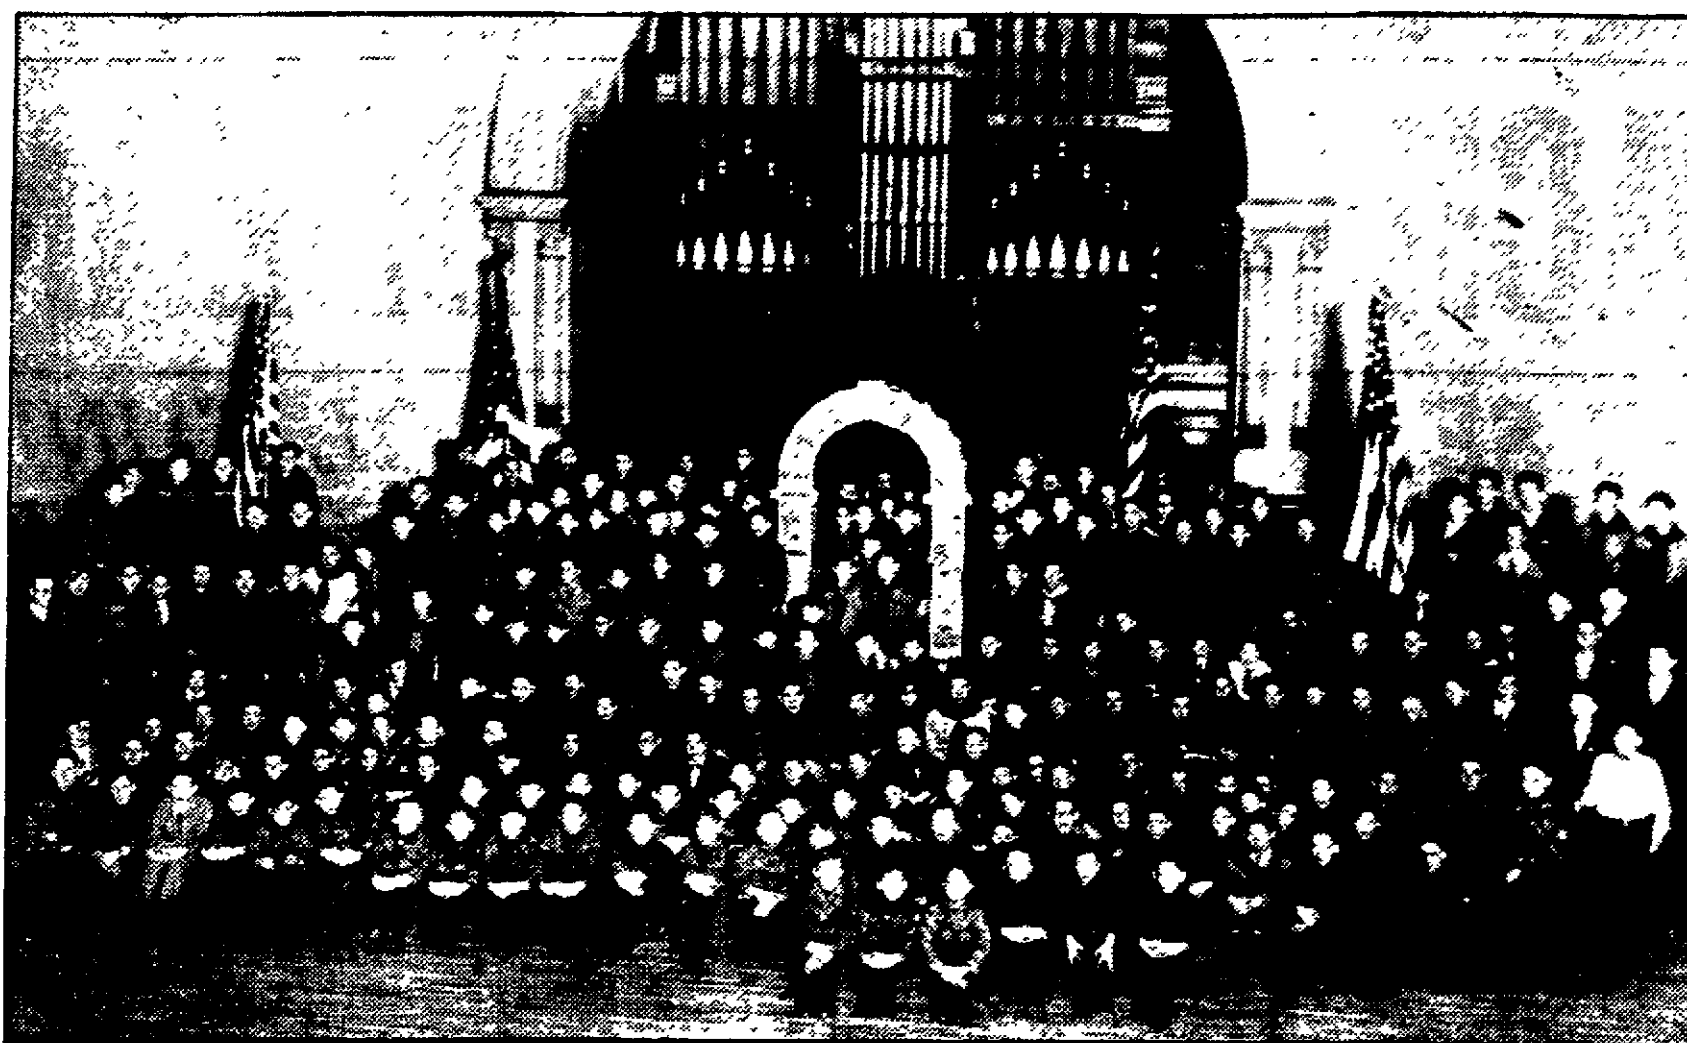

A program of stunts, and featured musical numbers will be presented by the adults at the next meeting of the association on Feb. 19.

At a meeting last week of the Parent-Teachers' association of Cloverdale school, Joint No. 5, Black Creek, it was decided to stage a play in the spring and a committee was appointed to make the arrangements. The committee will make a report at a meeting of the association on Feb. 23. At the February meeting a card party will be held. Miss Agnes Junk is the teacher of this school.

EDUCATOR OBSERVES HIS 72ND BIRTHDAY

Reunion Honors Engelbert Schueller, Teacher, Editor and City Commissioner

Prof. Engelbert Schueller, for many years principal of St. Joseph school, celebrated his seventy-second birthday anniversary Monday. A family dinner was held Monday noon at the home, 495 W. Lawrence-st., at which all members of the family, excepting two children, were present. Though Mr. Schueller has been in poor health for some time his memory is still intact and he recalls vividly his early youth in Wisconsin.

The life of Prof. Schueller is a story of the pioneer days of Wisconsin. He was born in Ozaukee-co 1856 and was the son of early Wisconsin settlers. After an elementary education he graduated from Pio Nono college near Milwaukee in 1881. Three years later, in 1884, he came to Appleton.

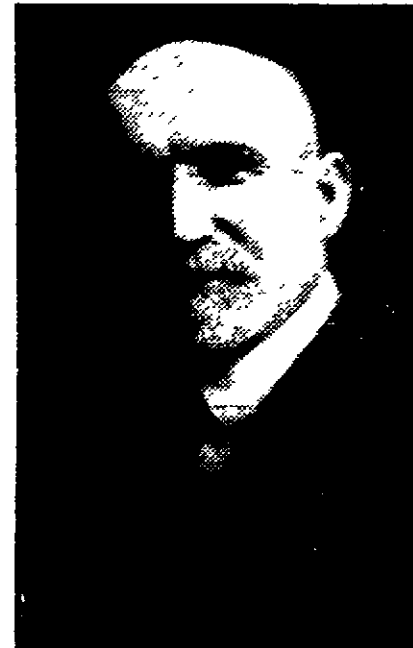

Aside from his activities as principal of St. Joseph school Prof. Schueller served as editor of one of Appleton's German newspapers, Appleton Wecker and served one term as city commissioner.

Among the relatives from out-of-town at the reunion were Rev. A. J. Schueller of Francis Creek, a son, and Miss Helen Guentert, South Bend, Ind., a granddaughter.

SALVAGE STOCK FROM RUINED MUSIC STORE

Basement Not Much Damaged, Workmen Find—Find Papers in Lawyer's Safe

A small amount of stock was salvaged from the basement of the Zuelke music store Monday when workmen cut through the floor and found that the fire which destroyed the building last week had not burned through that section.

Mr. Zuelke said Tuesday that a piano, several radios and phonographs and some smaller articles had been taken from the basement and although they had not been damaged by the fire there was some damage from water. He said the first floor of the music store had not collapsed despite the heavy load of wreckage which it carried.

A safe belonging to Paul V. Cary, Sr., of the firm of Ryan and Cary which had its offices in the Zuelke building above the music store, was taken from the ruins Monday after-

PROMOTIONS ANNOUNCED
FOR MEMBERS OF BRIGADE

The appointments were made by Captain Leo Schubart, Charles Neubauer, John Schneller, John Hewitt, Robert Gillig and Marks Jorgenson were appointed sergeants; Herbert Therman, Edward Larson, George Ackerman and Raymond Gollmier, corporals and Paul Grogan, Robert Moxie, Madison Billy Burnside, James Meyer, Byron Dell and Robert Kuehl, first class privates.

The question arose when school districts tried to recover funds lost to them through sale of land formerly on the tax roles of the district.

The commission had advised Mrs. Frank Marquardt, clerk of the Union Free High School district, Buffalo that her district may attack the legality of the sale of public lands to the federal government. Buffalo county has 69 square miles and would thus fall within the constitutional prohibitory section.

Lands in Grant county were also transferred to the same and fish preserve, but since that county has more than 900 acres in it, the constitution would not apply.

A. D. Campbell, chief clerk of the land commission, points out that the constitutional prohibition would also prevent sale of lands in Vilas county for the establishment of a federal forest except by majority vote.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

Last Tuesday and Wednesday we discussed the plan of campaign; today, tomorrow and Thursday we continue the same subject. Take the following first-trick situation in a No Trump:

It is immaterial which Club Declarer plays from Dummy, but it is good practice always to plan the campaign before touching a Dummy card. Declarer sees he can make two Spade tricks, two Heart tricks, one Club trick and almost certainly four Diamond tricks—a total of nine, game—provided the adversaries do not take more than four tricks before Declarer is able to establish and run his Diamond suit.

Declarer cannot be sure whether or not he can keep them from doing this, because he cannot tell how the eight adverse Clubs are divided. He

THE STORY THUS FAR
The story thus far has been told in the Indian territory, and along the Kansas border in the "Boomers" for the opening of the territory to settlement. Chief characters are: TONY HARRISON, orphaned at 13 when his father was murdered in a poker game; PAWNEE BILL, adventurer, Indian interpreter and showman; JOE CRAIG, who takes Tony to the Bar K ranch to live; TITUS MOORE, owner of the Bar K; RITA MOORE, his little tomboy daughter.

When Tony is 15, Rita and her mother depart for Virginia and the boy learns for the first time how much he cares for the little red-headed girl. He received that DAVID PAWNEE, leader of the "Boomers," and chief agitator for the opening is one of Payne's sympathizers, and so is Tony, although his benefactor, Titus Moore, opposes the opening with all his might. When Pawnee Bill goes out the following year with a wild west show he takes Tony along.

CHAPTER XXVII
Enterprising showmen of the day were awakening to the possibilities of the American Indian as a drawing card, especially in the east, where the red man was a rarity and a curiosity. The Healy and Bigelow company of New Haven and New York, decided to test the box office value of the Indian and augment their already rather elaborate medicine show with a wild west act. Pawnee Bill was commissioned to gather together a large company of Indians and fetch them to Philadelphia. When he arrived in the Pennsylvania metropolis Tony Harrison was with him.

Titus Moore at first had been doubtful about it, but a few words from Craig had converted him. "All of a sudden he swung right in line with the idea," Tony informed Pawnee Bill. "I don't know what came over him to make him change his mind." The other smiled. He could explain it very easily, he was thinking, but he chose not to. Tony's chief regret at leaving the Bar K arose with the necessity of parting with Cherokee, his horse. The son of Black Diamond and Fancy was a beautiful, spirited thing, and the boy was his slave. Titus Moore himself had to promise to look after him.

"Don't you worry, Tony. I'm as proud of him as you are. The first son-of-a-gun that looks at him crossed my I'll personally scalp." Pawnee Bill's recommendation had obtained for Tony a job as cowboy in the wild west show. The boy was the best horseman in the outfit and he could handle a rope as well as most of them. As for Tony's sponsor, the long-haired Indian interpreter, he was quite the most picturesque figure, red or white, with the show. He and Tony roamed together and wherever they walked through the streets of Philadelphia people stopped to gaze after the broad-shouldered figure with the flowing mane and the wide hat.

"That's showmanship," he informed the youth, when questioned as to whether it was not embarrassing to be the object of so much curiosity. "I don't mind it and it increases my value to the show." He had in mind, he said, going into the business for himself some day. "I'm studying costs and trying to profit by my experience. I won't be working for other people very long. If they can make money off me I stage-struck. A few weeks from now and both would have forgotten it. Rita, though, was more than that. It was not easy to forget her down on the Bar K when every week brought one of her letters to her father. He thought of something Titus Moore had said when he had returned the previous winter from his visit in Virginia. "You'd hardly know her, Tony," she's not a little girl any more." Very likely not, he told himself. Rita was 17 and he had not seen her for two years. His mind grasped eagerly at the thought of taking the train to Washington, only a few hours from Philadelphia, and calling on her at her school. But it was summer, he recollected, and the school would be closed. She would not be there.

The next day he got a letter from Joe Craig. Rita had got a letter from the ranch to spend her vacation. "Her mother's with her," Craig wrote, "and Rita seemed right put out when she learned you had left. She's sure pretty, Tony, and she's fell in love with Cherokee." The information made him unhappy and restless. Not to be present when Rita got her first glimpse of Cherokee; not to be there to back her to ride with him and to ride beside her along some of the familiar trails. They left Philadelphia not long afterward and toured through the east. Tony was surprised to learn that Pawnee Bill was exchanging letters with Mary Manning—or May, as he called her. He twisted him about in but Pawnee Bill no longer could be embarrassed.

"I expect I'll marry her if I ever get the nerve to ask her," he informed the youth calmly. "And, providing, of course, she'll have me. She's the only girl I ever met that I'd want to marry." Tony with great difficulty overcame a sudden temptation to blurt out his own hopeless story to his friend. The show closed before the summer's end and they traveled together as far as Wellington. There Pawnee Bill left him, promising him the opportunity of another tour in the fall. "Probably along the west coast," Buffalo Bill's got a show called the Flying Dutchman with John Keene playing the lead. He thinks he'll want me to bring him some Indians again, and it'll be a nice trip for you. Take care of yourself."

At Caldwell Tony was met by Joe Craig, who had brought another horse with him. "Cherokee being kind of young, I didn't bring him along, Tony. He's not strong enough yet for heavy duty. You'll be just in time to see Rita before she goes back. She's just got a few days more to stay. I'll me about yourself. What kind of a time did you have? Reckon you'll go into the show business?" "I don't know. It's all right, but it's kind of uncertain. You clean up in the show, and make expenses in another. What's Rita like? Does she still ride around and get in everybody's way?" He was masking his interest behind a tone of indifference.

Craig shoved back his hat and scratched his head. "Well, yes, she's still runs things; in that respect she hasn't changed much." Does she talk the same? "Craig regarded him with an amused stare. "Well, she talked up a Virginia accent. I guess you'd call it sort of soft and lazy-like. And she don't say 'am' any more. What else do you want to know?" Tony reddened furiously. "Nothing, I reckon. I—I was just figuring that two years might make a powerful change in a girl and I was curious. His heart kept pounding against his ribs as they rode along. What would she be like? Would she be the old, carefree, impudent Rita, the Rita that used to issue commands like an imperious little queen? Or would she be another person—reserved, dignified, conscious of her place and of his?

LESS MONEY PAID ON BOUNTIES THIS YEAR

Rewards Paid for Killing of Pests Is $75 Under That of 1926
Bounties paid by Outagamie county during 1927 totaled $607.70 or about $75 less than in 1926 when $682.45 was paid out according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk. In 1926 there was $1000 paid in bounties.

Crows and robbers are the only pests upon which the county pays bounties, according to Mr. Hantschel. The rate is 15 cents for each crow and 5 cents for each robber. In 1927 there were 40,000 crows and 10,000 robbers. In 1926 there were 45,000 crows and 12,000 robbers. There were four bounties paid to Outagamie residents on wolves but there were none on dogs and cats.

Mr. Hantschel was unable to determine the number of gophers and crows killed last year because, he said, the payments are made by the town clerk on presentation of the evidence and the town clerk in turn files a claim with the county and the money is then refunded to him. Mr. Hantschel said no record was kept of the number of gophers and crows on which bounties were claimed.

The bounty on full grown wolves and coyotes is $30; wolf or coyote cub, $4; wildcat and lynx, $5; fox, $2.

WHAT IS IT ALL ABOUT?

When Governor Zimmermann called the legislature together, in special session he named some six matters of business which he submitted to them for execution because under the constitution of Wisconsin he was required to do so, that document also providing that when a special session is convened "no business shall be transacted except as shall be necessary to accomplish the special purposes for which it was convened."

But what is a little written document like the constitution when our assemblymen and senators find the eye of the public upon them and are anxious to cavort themselves? It were difficult, almost impossible, to hem in our embryo Websters with as weak an instrument as the constitution, for boys will be boys and they must have their fun. Nor can they keep their minds resolutely upon any such stern and uninteresting business as the internal welfare of the state, its many institutions and the important problem of taxation in connection with raising necessary funds to keep the home fires burning. There are bigger things afoot, much bigger.

The assembly started off and passed a resolution approving the administration of Governor Smith in New York, not in anywise in connection with the presidential aspirations of Governor Smith, but they just said that they were of the opinion that Smith had been a pretty good governor. There are something like nine million people in the state of New York who will make up their own minds upon that question, as they have in the past, but no doubt they will be greatly moved as they should by an opinion coming from such a mighty organization as the assembly of Wisconsin. But why stop with New York? May we not also have an opinion concerning the standing of the governor of Illinois? And how about Oklahoma?

The next order of business was a petition by Assemblyman Swanson asking the assembly to compel Assemblyman Staab to apologize to him for referring to him as "Senator Hefflin", but the speaker made the momentous ruling that since he had not himself heard Staab make the scurrilous remark attributed to him he could not take jurisdiction of the matter. And so Mr. Swanson, covered with perspiration from his oratorical effort, was required to sit down.

In the senate much business concerning the people of Wisconsin and its institutions was being transacted. By a vote of 19 to 17 the senate voted an approval of the action of the senate of the United States in excluding Senator-elect Smith of Illinois. The seventeen who voted against the resolution were of the opinion that what the senate of the United States did in the matter "was none of our business," but it will be a sorry day for Wisconsin if our legislature cannot run the national congress as well as many other things. These stubborn seventeen are quite out of step with the spirit of our times. And although we are all, we believe, quite unanimous in our satisfaction that Utility Smith did not get a seat in the senate of the United States our statesmen are making campaign powder and masks and thunder and all the other paraphernalia of the political war that will be staged in every corner of the state next fall.

Next in order in the senate was a resolution by Senator Cashman denouncing what he termed the "Nicaraguan War." This was countered by Senator Markham with a substitute resolution suggesting that a brand new country be created to be known as "Cashmanio" and to be made up of Wisconsin, Nicaragua and any other adaptable nation. To which Senator Cashman retorted that Senator Markham "will not intimidate other senators by statesmanship originating in the frog ponds about the Horicon marsh," from which we may draw the conclusion that in his boyhood Senator Markham was common enough to indulge in the plebian sport known as killing frogs, for which, however, he should be excused so long as he lived near the tempting allurements of a marsh as big as that known as the Horicon. This fair discourse "hath been as sugar, making the hard way sweet and delectable." Finally by the close vote of 14 to 10 the "Nicaraguan war" was not denounced so that our marines may still be free to try to restore order in that unhappy land.

But what, you will say, has become of the business of the state of Wisconsin committed to the care of our able legislators and for which they were called together. That is easy. They passed an appropriation of $4,000,000 in reference to our normal schools without a sigh or a dissenting vote. They got it over with as fast as possible. They were so eager to get to the big things. Nicaraguan wars, Governor Smiths, Senator-elect Smiths, Horicon marshes, personal insults and many other entertaining and diverting subjects. Then there were all the mirrors before which they might parade, vests bursting and unable to hold the heaving bosoms of those who were settling questions for all parts of the globe. There are other questions which they should tackle and we feel sure their opinion will be eventually sought upon them. Shall Trotsky live in China or be returned to Russia? What about the dispute over the Moroccan boundary line? Which is correct in their controversy, Syria or France? Is England right in its plans of colonization in Canada and Australia? Why not break up the British empire and pass it all around? Shouldn't a resolution be passed approving Mayor Thompson's splendid and heroic conduct in throwing the gauntlet to the mob but in the teeth of a king?

These are only modest suggestions. We are well aware that they do not encompass the prodigious abilities of our statesmen in Wisconsin. A breathless world awaits their answer.

The truth of it is that the blood is getting a little thin in Wisconsin and our Progressives must keep the pot boiling, must create issues; issues is what they need, issues they must have at any cost. Their plan follows somewhat that of Caisus Caesar who was smart enough to keep his Roman legions busy plundering all parts of the world else they get time to ask pointed questions. An election is in the offing and the stage must be set with a lot of attractive scenery.

The people of Wisconsin owe a debt of gratitude to the governor for calling this extra session. We must have amusement and we need it more in the winter time than at any other period of the year. What fun we would all miss had it not been called.

DEBTS PAID AND NOT PAID

The United States has half the money-gold of the world. Gold flows out of the country now and then, but it always flows back again. And this situation is likely to continue.

"America's creditor position makes her the permanent magnet for gold," says Reginald McKenna, former chancellor of Great Britain. "Her creditors must pay, and if they can find no other way they must pay in gold." The only way we could lose this position, he says, would be to lend abroad continuously beyond our capacity.

This suggests the way the whole business of debt-collection will probably work out—in fact, the way it has already begun to work out. We shall keep on lending to Europe at least as much as Europe owes us, from year to year. Thus foreign debtors will not be in the position of having to make up impossible shipments of gold.

We shall still have the biggest gold reserve in the world, all we need to maintain international finance on a dollar basis. Whatever balance is coming to us from abroad, from both public debts and private debts we shall turn into new credits for the debtor nations.

Thus they will remain in our debt. Their national debts will be paid, little by little, but merely changed into other forms such as municipal and industrial debts. We shall have a big national income from abroad, and steadily reinvest it there. Our government loans to Europe will be held eventually by our citizens as private investments.

IMMUNITY IS NOT RESISTANCE

The old folks, I find, will go a certain way with me, but not all the way. It seems impossible to cajole or drive them past a certain position when all the old doctors and all the old health officers stand. Here the old folks take their last refuge. "Yes, yes," they say, "it may be that a strong, healthy person can stand it, as you claim, but for me, I am convinced that when I get my feet wet, if I am unable to change to dry things soon, my resistance is lowered and I am quite likely to catch cold. I grant you it is a germ, but the 'cold' germ seems to pick on me when my resistance is lowered by wet feet." And there I have to leave 'em, for in order to make further progress it is necessary to show 'em that this "resistance" they conjure up simply doesn't exist, and that gets us off the main subject of debate.

Immunity against any given germ disease is a positive state. One may inherit immunity; one may acquire it by having the disease; one may borrow it from another person or from an animal that had had the disease; or one may build it up by synthesis, from the ultraviolet rays of sunlight or the vitamins of foods. Immunity against a germ disease is never absolute, but always relative or partial. But it is always positive, that is, once you've got it, you can't lose it in a hurry. In fact, except in very unnatural or exceptional circumstances you can't lose it at all. In other words I venture to assert as a strictly scientific premise, if an individual has, let us say, two plus immunity against pneumonia or diphtheria, no amount of exposure to cold, chilling, wet feet or similar discomforts can diminish his degree of immunity. So, in all fairness, I ask where are the old folks going to get off with their untenable notions about "resistance." Are they going to get off where the old doctors and health officers get off? Well, that's too bad—the doctors and health officers can't get off now without a ridiculous tumble and the loss of their dignity, for we're going too fast.

The highest attainable degree of immunity against a given germ disease is never absolute. One protected as thoroughly as possible by vaccination or even by a previous attack of mild smallpox may still contract smallpox if he happens to receive an overwhelming infection with a virulent type of the disease. If you are immune to smallpox, by virtue of recent successful vaccination or recovery from an attack of the disease, you do not "resist" the disease, you merely escape it.

There is still some credence given the old myth that doctors had certain means by which they could protect themselves against any risk of infection with disease. Of course doctors have no such powers, virtues or charms other than the medical and sanitary precautions which are available to everybody.

I said that once you've got a given degree of immunity against a given disease you can't lose it in a hurry. That fact speaks the fanciful language of today's wet feet or other exposure with tomorrow's illness. So far as susceptibility may be concerned it would be far less ridiculous to imagine that the cold draft on your neck this afternoon accounts for the bronchitis you're going to have next November.

This is not only scientific but also optimistic. Why worry over the future?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Rabbit's Foot or Horseshoe
I have received a lot of circular matter about the rabbit pad. What is your opinion of these? Will they do what is claimed for them? (Mrs. R. S. O.)

Answer—I don't think so. Nor do I place confidence in the left hind foot of a rabbit or other charm.

Acid Fruits Make System Alkaline
My husband is suffering with excess uric acid and kidney stones. Kindly advise me if oranges, lemons and grapefruit are harmful in this disease. (Mrs. H. G. C.)

Answer—The effect of a liberal use of oranges, lemons or grapefruit in the diet is to render the blood more alkaline and thus less acid. For young adults, especially bottle babies, it is wise in all cases to begin feeding cod liver oil in the second or third month of age, say five to ten drops of it at first, twice or three times each day, and it is readily given mixed with a little orange juice, tomato juice, or any other fresh juice fruit of vegetable uncooked. Increase the quantities of cod liver oil and fruit juice every week or two until the baby gets about a teaspoonful of cod liver oil twice daily at the age of 4 months. Keep the cod liver oil up more or less constantly until the baby is eating eggs. The yolk of the egg supplies the same essential vitamins as are supplied in plain cod liver oil—namely, vitamin A which aids the development of immunity particularly against respiratory infections and probably aids in maintaining a normal appetite, and vitamin D which prevents rickets. The tomato, vegetable or fruit juice supplies vitamin C which prevents scurvy.

FACTS ABOUT CITY PARKS

Washington, D. C. — Practically all cities in the United States of 25,000 population or more have parks, according to a report shortly to be made public. Millions of people, however, in small towns have access neither to parks nor playgrounds, and other millions in cities are inadequately provided with these places for relaxation and recreation. Of the cities of 25,000 or more, only 42 come up to the accepted standard of having one acre of parks to a hundred or fewer inhabitants.

In all, 1681 municipalities have an aggregate of nearly 350,000 acres of parks and forests over a billion dollars have been expended in acquiring and developing these properties for the people, and a hundred million dollars are spent each year in maintaining them.

The report is the result of a nationwide survey made at the instance of the National Conference on Outdoor Recreation, by the Playground and Recreation Association of America in cooperation with the American Institute of Park Executives, and two years were devoted to the study. It is to be published with a foreword by President Coolidge in which he says:

"Play for the child, sport for youth, and recreation for adults are essentials of normal life. It is becoming generally recognized that the creation and maintenance of outdoor recreation facilities is a community duty in order that the whole people might participate in their enjoyment."

"This presents a particular challenge to municipal and county administrations. I am hopeful that the results of this study may be widely used to the end that our people, even in cities, may not be deprived of opportunities for wholesome play and recreation out of doors."

Coolidge addressed the first session of the national conference on Outdoor Recreation three years ago, and on that occasion emphasized the need of a national recreation policy. The survey which has now been concluded was an essential preliminary to the working out of such a policy.

THE TEN LARGEST PARKS

Excelsior Park, Philadelphia, with an acreage of 381, heads the list of ten largest city parks in the United States, as shown by the report. Griffiths Park, Los Angeles, 2731 acres, parks second, and Bidwell Park, Chicago, California, 2391 acres, comes third. The others, in their order and with their acreages, are as follows: Polham Bay Park, New York City, 1756; Rock Creek Park, Washington, D. C., 1632; New City Park, New Orleans, 1410; Balboa Park, San Diego, 1409; Forest Park, St. Louis, 1371; Scope Park, Kansas City, 1333; and Highland Park, Meriden, Conn., 1308. New York City with 1017.5 acres of parks has the largest such area of any American city, but the report states that the park growth of the national metropolis has not nearly kept pace with the growth in population. The big city has but one acre of parks to 553 inhabitants, whereas it should have one acre to 109 or fewer.

DAILY HINTS FOR HEALTH

PROGRESS OF DISEASE IS HALTED BY DISINFECTANT

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Some thousands of years ago it was believed that pestilence or plague was due to a general putrefaction of the air and that such putrefaction was brought about by influences wrought by the gods or by the stars. More than 100 years before Pasteur showed that germs were definitely the causes of various infectious diseases, methods of fumigation consisted of the evaporation of perfumes with the idea of disguising the stench of putrefaction rather than to get rid of the specific infection.

In 1867, it was customary to put pieces of camphor about the clothing of those who were not sick, and occasionally to throw some camphor on a hot stove with a view to killing infections that might be present. As soon as Pasteur demonstrated definitely the relationship of certain germs to disease, it became possible to plan disinfection with a view to killing the specific germs.

Since it has been shown that insects act in many instances as the carriers of germs and are thus responsible for the spread of such diseases as typhus fever, malaria and yellow fever, disinfection is as important in these conditions as disinfection in relation to other disorders.

The control of typhus fever involves the isolation of the patient; the killing of all insects, particularly body lice that may be on the patient or his clothing or on the bed linen; the application of a similar procedure to persons associated with the patient and to his immediate surroundings.

William Penn in Philadelphia, by Oglethorpe in Georgia, and by others. Americans seemed to have forgotten the necessity of providing open spaces. Their awakening came in the eighties and nineties, and they found then that such spaces within city limits were rapidly disappearing. During the last twenty-five years the movement for parks has proceeded rapidly.

"Now the task for the American people," concludes the report, "is to secure the space in each municipality necessary to permit everybody to get out and live in contact with nature, to enjoy the direct rays of the sun and breathe pure air at least part of the time as to enjoy activities that will benefit the great fundamental muscles of the body."

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

By Frederick Haskin

Q. What are Blue Sky Laws? W. J. S.

A. Though differing slightly in some of the States, the Blue Sky Laws are much alike in their essential features. They are designed to regulate the sale of stocks, bonds, and other securities, but in some States they have been extended to a wide range of investment enterprises. The law usually contains a penal clause prescribing penalty for fraud in the sale or negotiation of securities and vests in a certain officer or body the power to investigate all transactions of this kind.

Q. When were special institutions for the instruction of the blind established in the United States? D. H.

A. The first thought and purpose of building up special institutions for the instruction of the blind seem to have occurred to benevolent persons in New York, and Pennsylvania, almost simultaneously. The New York Institution for the Blind was incorporated April 22, 1831. On March 15, 1832, Dr. John D. Russ began the education of three pupils. The progress of the school was at first slow for want of an efficient head to direct its affairs. The Pennsylvania Institution, which is now one of the foremost in the world, was founded in 1833. Subsequently other schools were opened in various States.

Q. What is free verse? P. T. N.

A. Verse which does not depend on rhyme or meter is called free verse. It does, however, have a certain rhythm.

4-H CLUB WORK TAKES BIG PART IN MADISON MEETING

NOTED SPEAKERS TO BE ON PROGRAMS AT 'FARM FOLKS WEEK'

Daily Meetings and Lectures Will Provide Much Entertainment

Madison—(P)—Leaders trained to leadership will be the goal of the 4-H club and community leadership school, to be held here this week in connection with Farm Folks week.

The first meeting of the leadership group is scheduled for Tuesday forenoon, and will be held every morning for the rest of the week. Music in club work will be taken up each day by E. E. Gordon, of the University School of Music.

The 4-H club's need for full and enthusiastic support is the topic of Dr. Jean McBurnie's talk on Tuesday. She is a member of the Wisconsin State Board of Health. Others who will participate on this day are C. J. McAlamy, Marathon club leader, who will talk on "Local Leaders a Paramount Need," and as the concluding number of the first day's conference, E. L. Dixon, Greenock club leader, will tell how to get members to complete record books.

W. C. Strauss, Eau Claire, county agent, will act as chairman of the Wednesday forenoon Rural Leadership Conference. Those who will contribute and their subjects are: Miss Dorothy Enderis, director of community recreation of the city of Milwaukee, on "Fun and Games"; Paul C. Taff, assistant director of extension at the Iowa State college, on "Present Tendencies in Club Work"; and K. L. Hatch, assistant director of extension at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, on "Wisconsin Club Policy."

The State home talent tournament, scheduled for next Friday afternoon and evening at the College of Agriculture, as the concluding feature of this year's Farm Folks Week, will demonstrate what can be done by community leadership. Community clubs from six different Wisconsin counties, Pierce, Portage, Racine, Dane, Clark, and Wood, will put forth their talent in plays and stunts at the occasion, each hoping to win the title of the state's premier plays in the first state-wide dramatic tournament.

U. S. FARMERS GET LARGE PRODUCTION

Income May Not Be as High Per Acre, but Americans do More Work, Report

Washington—(P)—While production per acre in some crops may not be as high in America as in other countries, American farmers produce more per man than farmers in any other part of the world.

This conclusion is reached by Charles J. Egan, executive secretary and treasurer of the American Fertilizer Association, after a close study of farm efficiency. Egan served 20 years in the department of agriculture and as a consulting specialist in marketing was a close advisor of the late Secretary Henry C. Wallace.

"Farmers are efficient," Egan declares, "but the lack of prosperity on our farms has been the result of a more efficient agriculture. Our problem is not to grow a greater aggregate quantity of farm products, but to grow the same amount at a smaller cost per unit of production. We must grow fewer acres with greater profit."

Brand points to several measuring sticks of rural efficiency.

"In 1890 less than one crop per acre per farm worker was utilized, whereas the average farm worker now cultivates 32 acres. In 1900 it was considered a fine performance if a sow raised a litter of five or six pigs that would attain a weight of 200 to 225 pounds at eight months, or approximately 1,200 pounds per litter. Now one-ton litters are common and in many contests ton-and-a-half and two-ton litters have been raised in six months."

"Hens used to produce 150 eggs in a year. Now many individuals produce more than 300 in a year, and whole flocks average more than 200. "Since 1890 farmers have increased their yields of wheat by 17 per cent, oats by 14 per cent and potatoes by 29 per cent. Production of grain per man per acre increased from 12,000 pounds in 1870 to 25,000 pounds in 1925."

FEEDING CABBAGE CROP BRINGS GOOD PROFITS

BY W. F. WINSEY

For the past eight years, Mrs. Margaret Wittmann, route 2, Appleton, has been managing a 224-acre farm, raising the 23rd crop of her own. She is in the dairy business with a herd of 40 Holstein and Red Polls, grade cattle. In the herd are 25 cows, 17 of which are now milkers. She is getting from 550 to 600 pounds of milk daily and delivering it to the Darius Cheese factory. During the past year, she delivered 700,000 pounds of milk. The formula for her milk is 2 1/2 pounds of cream and 1 1/2 pounds of butterfat per gallon. Besides this, her cows get red clover and alfalfa hay, corn silage, a stock tonic feed and cabbage. She has twenty tons of cabbage that she is feeding to her cows in preference to selling the crop at the present market prices. The Wittmanns feed all their own animals. Mrs. Wittmann has eight sons, three of whom are doing the work on the homestead.

FEWER CRIPPLED HOGS NOW REACHING MARKET

Chicago—(P)—Stockyard supervisors declare that better handling of hogs enroute to market has materially reduced the number of cripples, once a pronounced drag on receipts. One firm buying crippled hogs was able to get but 298 animals this year compared to 423 during a similar period in 1926.

Reduction, they say, is based on increased care taken in shipping hogs at the point of origin. Weak animals are partitioned in one end of the car and every effort made to keep them from being trampled.

DIRECT TO CUSTOMER SALES BRING PROFIT, JOE DRESANG FINDS

Little Chute Couple Cut Out the Middleman When Selling Produce

BY W. F. WINSEY

Joe Dresang, route 1, Little Chute, a year ago butchered the hogs he raised on his farm and sold the meat in halves or quarters to private customers at 16 cents a pound when the market price was 11 cents a pound for dressed pork. He said he resorted to this method of marketing because private customers were numerous and he wished to get at least the cost of production for his pork.

As the market this year is lower than in previous years, Mr. Dresang, beside selling to private customers, has reduced his herd to 12 animals but is in condition to expand quickly if the market should give signs of improvement. At the present prices of pork, it is impossible for a farmer to get the cost of production, says Mr. Dresang.

He has no faith in the hog raisers' motto of the corn belt, "A bushel of corn produces ten pounds of pork," and even if it were true there would be no profit in pork production at the present prices feed and pork. The high retail prices of ham and bacon and the use of extensive machinery in cooking, brought on by the high retail prices of lard, has cut down the consumption of hog products. He declares that if consumers would buy their pork direct from farmers, smoke hams and bacon, pickle and can pork and manufacture, as farmers do, they would have no need to pay high prices for these products nor to use inferior substitutes.

Mrs. Dresang has 85 Rhode Island pullets and is getting 25 eggs daily. In a short time, she intends to increase the egg production of her flock and sell her eggs to a chick hatchery. She disposed of eggs last season in this manner. Another line of her poultry business is raising broilers for select customers. Last season, she raised 600 broilers and sold them at 85 cents each. Three hundred cockerels and 150 pullets were readily disposed of and she had orders for 150 more that she could not fill. Mrs. Dresang intends to resume her broiler raising industry this spring.

No Danger of Breakage and Leakage When Tin Is Used, Mrs. Manning Says

BY W. F. WINSEY

South Greenville—Judging from progress made by homemakers in this vicinity in canning fresh fruit, vegetables, poultry, veal, beef and pork, the day is not far distant when city consumers may be supplied with the choicest of these foods canned before they have deteriorated or lost the choice flavors through age.

According to Mrs. William Manning, every South Greenville home is equipped for canning and uses it as a reasonable times, to preserve the season's supply of the food.

As an illustration of the extent to which these outfits are used, Mrs. Manning canned 57 cans of beef on Thursday as beef steak, beef roast, oven roast, hamburger steak, beef loaf and 8 quarts of beef stock and as a result, will have these articles of food fresh as long as they last. She also canned 24 cans of pork consisting of sausage and roasts. Next week she intends to can 29 chickens. Last summer 400 quarts of fruit and vegetables were put up. Mrs. Manning smokes hams, shoulders and loaves, and sells as much pork as she needs for pork and beans.

"Tin is much more economical and serviceable for canning than glass," said Mrs. Manning. "When tin is used there is no chance of leakage or breakage which are two of the defects of canning in glass. Farm canning leaves all others as the article canned on the farm is put up at the right time."

FINDS TRUCK GARDEN BUSINESS PAYS GOOD

BY W. F. WINSEY

DePere—Mr. and Mrs. Randall Gault of this city have been in the truck business for 15 years and during that period have raised every kind of garden vegetables and disposed of their products to grocery stores in this city and to customers on other farms in the villages of Brown County. With the use of a signboard on their truck, they also sell quantities of reasonable vegetables to passersby. They make contracts with grocery stores to supply local stores with two tons of early tomatoes, fifty tons of cabbage, 2 tons of celery and 29 tons of carrots. Their scattered sales reach out to Denmark, Askeaton, Greenleaf and other villages.

Calf Trio Greets Farmer; All Healthy, Well Marked

BY W. F. WINSEY

New Franken—On the farm of Max Duquaine, route 2, is a curiosity in the form of triplet calves. They are pure bred Holsteins of uniform size, similarly marked and weighed 100 pounds each at six weeks of age. At birth the weight of each calf of the group was estimated at forty-five pounds and each one is apparently the same as though it had been born alone.

The arrival of the triplets was announced by Mr. Duquaine to his wife and the other members of the family soon after the expectant cow mother had been placed in the maternity pen of the Duquaine stables, or, to be exact on the morning of Dec. 4.

The calves were raised by her side this morning, announced the proud farmer. "I'll bet she has twins," he replied Mrs. Duquaine. "No," answered Mr. Duquaine, "she has triplets."

FARM ATTICS HIDE MUCH MATERIAL FOR COMMUNITY PLAYS

Everything from Royalty to Envy Can Be Produced at Little Cost

Madison—(P)—A store of appropriate costumes for the community club, church or school from giving a play or undertaking other dramatic productions.

In the trunks and boxes stored in the attics in most homes can be found suits, dresses and dress that can be made into costumes for almost any period of time.

But if a costume cannot be found in the home for some of the characters, new ones can be made at only a small cost, explains Mrs. Ruth S. Randolph, of the home economics department of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

The cut of the garments of a help "put across" the type of character. When the help lady wears a dress with a short skirt, short sleeves, a low neck, laced with ruffs, and trimmings, the audience knows immediately she is to be a busy and perhaps even unscrupulous person.

Mrs. Randolph uses the color of her costumes, almost as much as the cut, to tell the types of people her players are impersonating. For example, she dresses her leading character in green to show that they are "green with envy." Other colors have also come to have definite meanings.

White, usually stands for purity; black for gloom, or death and often fear or crime. Bright red produces a feeling of restlessness; while blue is cool and passive. Purple of course is dignified and blue has been used for centuries to show royalty.

PURE BRED CATTLE FIND BETTER MARKET

Bernard De Cleene, route 2, DePere, is in the dairy business with gravel as a side line. Since 1917 his herd of pure bred Holstein cows, now numbering fifteen, seven of which he makes her follow, have been sold for the Carter Cheese factory. Prior to the chance, Mr. De Cleene had a herd of very good grade Holsteins and the principal reason for changing to pure bred was that he could sell pure bred calves and surplus cows to better financial advantage.

In company with his brother, Mr. De Cleene handles 10,000 yards of crushed gravel yearly. His product is used for concrete work and for the building of concrete roads.

In a shipment of 70 wild animals on a French liner when it arrived at Marseilles from Madras, India, recently, were four Mysore elephants, a huge tiger, two panthers, six lynxes and several cases of snakes.

Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia" Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gas. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "P. M." Twenty-five cent and fifty-cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1871.

Hope To Make Wisconsin Turkey Raising Center

BY W. F. WINSEY

Ed L. Hayes, editor of the Appleton Turkey Journal, is now working the largest turkey ranch in the world on miles south of Ashland. Last year over 500 turkeys were raised on this ranch. The purpose of Mr. Hayes and other turkey raisers in the industry is to make Ashland the turkey center of the nation by starting other farmers to raise turkeys with foundation stock raised this year. This, with the expansion of the present ranch, may make the number of turkeys raised in Wisconsin.

After the turkeys are hatched, they are kept in an incubator for a few days. About September 1st, when the turkeys are of a week old, they are divided into flocks of about 1000 each and fed in enclosed pens of 20 acres containing a good crop of alfalfa. If the land is not well watered, they are made so by making a good brush.

MUST START SMALL

In turkey, the pullets are started on a good cash crop but the attention should be made to raise them on a large scale the first year, but on a small scale the second year. The turkeys should be fed a good living mash by doing this, the production may be increased from 30 to 40 eggs for each hen.

The pullets are the first to start laying and lay from 10 to 20 eggs each. They can be made to lay a second or even a third clutch of from 10 to 15 eggs.

Eggs should be gathered regularly to prevent them from becoming chilled. Successful brooders yard up their brooders during the summer season and arrange nests in the yard and in this way a large percentage of the eggs are saved. A lack of brooding is one of the first principles of success," says Mr. Hayes.

PREFER INCUBATORS

"Artificial hatching is the second principal of success and from reports of those who have hatched both ways, the incubator is the best." In hatcheries the temperature should be kept at 102 degrees the first week, 103 degrees the second and third weeks and about 104 degrees the fourth week. The eggs are turned twice daily and are allowed to cool down to 70 degrees.

The pullets are left in the incubator for 24 hours after hatching, after which they are moved to the brooder house which has been warmed to some time. They are then held for 10 or under the brooder house for 10 days in a circle. The space is gradually increased in size until the pullets have the range of the house. When on the side, they should be given a small run at first and a larger one later. The brooder house may be moved from time to time from one to two spaces to another so that they may have a clean yard. The birds may leave the brooder for the rearing enclosure at 10 days.

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. E. D. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, hollow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c adv.

Lend An Ear, Gentlemen, And Hear What Blonde Ruth Taylor Says About You

BY RUTH TAYLOR
The "Loretta Lee" in the film, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes"

When a girl like I—as Anita Loos taught me to say—suddenly is given as much attention as if she committed a really first-class murder, she ought to be excused if her brain begins to rattle and wobble.

Now I'm asked: "What does a blonde think of gentlemen?"

As one blonde among many, I object very strongly to the old feminine formula that "they're all alike." I think the girl who starts out on that theory will have no more bracelets on her arm at the finish than she wore when she left home.

No; that gentlemen all are different. A statement like that also is a little too much, really.

I think the answer to variations in masculinity is for a girl to try to be different to all men. If she can develop a chameleon variety of method and mood which recognizes the little weaknesses and the little prides and the nice ways they all possess one way or another, then she can begin to call herself dangerous. Which, of course, is the ultimate way to flatter herself.

It requires close attention and a lot of sympathy and shrewdness to spot the little differences in men. You never can tell simply from conversation and compliments whether a man will yield a diamond tiara or merely an invitation to luncheon.

There is much difference in the gentlemen one finds in different parts of the country. This was impressed on me as I traveled from Hollywood to New York recently.

In Denver there was a frank, natural, capable quality to the men I met. In Texas there was a great deal of potential dash masked behind the southwestern drawl.

From New Orleans to Charlotte, one noticed a sweet-spoken deference, which made even a professional blonde feel rather helpless.

In New York, the typical gentleman has about him an air of wise comradeship.

Lately, the particular blonde who is writing this piece has been living in the golden dawn of good fortune. In this spell all men seem to be romantic knights and all women generous big sisters. But I guess it will not last forever.

RUTH TAYLOR — ALL THREE OF THEM

SAINT AND SINNER

BY ANNE AUSTIN

Faith lapsed again into unconsciousness in the ambulance that took her to the hospital. The last thing she remembered was the feeling of Cherry's hot tears dripping steadily upon her hand. Poor Cherry! She must never know that the sister she had unwillingly wronged had overheard that terrible, all-revealing conversation.

Gradually sick-room conversation penetrated the fog in which her mind was wandering.

"Don't worry, Miss Lane. She may know you all when she wakes up. Temporary amnesia is not uncommon in cases of nervous collapse."

"But she was so well just day before yesterday!" she heard Cherry protest.

Faith drifted again, was aroused by the almost noiseless opening of a door, and a new voice: "Mr. Hathaway on the phone, Miss Lane."

With her eyes still closed, but consciousness becoming more acute, Faith was aware of Cherry's rushing from the room.

"I'll refill this ice bag, Mr. Pruitt. You'll stay with her?" Faith heard Miss Sutton's crisp voice.

The door closed softly upon the starchy rustle. Then a squeak of shoes as George tiptoed to the bed.

"Faith? It's George. Can you speak to me?"

By an immense effort of will Faith forced her eyelids to open. She nodded, and though the gesture was of the slightest, she felt as if she had extended a terrific amount of energy.

"Don't try to talk, honey," George's voice came soothingly. "I understand everything. You don't want Bob or Cherry to know that you ran away intentionally. I'll tell Bob that you must have been delirious with fever yesterday when I drove you to Darrow, but that I didn't realize it."

Tears welled hotly in Faith's wide-staring eyes. She nodded again, whispered faintly: "Thank you, George."

"It will give you time to think things out. I don't know what's wrong between you and Bob, but whatever it is, it can't be as bad as you think now."

"Worse!" she protested in her almost inaudible whisper. "Does the doctor think I'm going to die, George?"

"Of course not!" George denied. "I want to die," she interrupted him, then closed her eyes and was drifting off into oblivion when Cherry's voice brought her back sharply.

"Bob's coming right over! The poor darling was almost crazy when I told him she didn't recognize us, George. Oh, was she talking to you?"

"Delirium," George answered. "I couldn't make out what she was saying. She still doesn't know me from Adam. We'd better clear out and leave her alone with the nurse. I doubt whether she ought to see Bob yet."

"You couldn't keep him out of here with machine guns!" Cherry cried bursting into fresh tears.

NEXT: Bob arrives.

WHAT WILL THE HOUSEWIFE DO WITH HER TIME?

A potato may be baked in 60 seconds and a steak broiled in half a minute by a new principle of electric cooking which creates intense heat and which is now being perfected in London. Many people will ask "what is the housewife going to do with all her saved time?" These are the people who are very sure that housekeeping in this "modern day of science" is a grand cinch. But I haven't a doubt in the world that for many many years the average home maker will find plenty to do even if she can bake a potato or broil a steak in a second or so. I have always been very impatient of the theory that the average housekeeper didn't have enough to do these days to keep her busy.

BEAUTY HOW AND WHY

HEREDITY AND YOUR EYES
Ann Alysia

BY ANN ALYSIA
BEING on the subject of the varying shades and colors of the eyes it may be appropriate to note the rule laid down by the scientific and studious monk, Mendel. It is known in the world of science as the Mendelian law and, upon occasion, has been invoked by courts to determine the paternity of a child.

Given in a general way, as it relates to coloring in individuals, it holds that blue-eyed parents will have blue-eyed children, unless that is a dominant brown-eyed influence descending from the grandparents. Brown-eyed parents will have dark-eyed progeny. If one parent has dark eyes and the other blue, five out of six of their children will have dark eyes, unless three of the grandparents have had blue or grey eyes.

Blue eyes in a dark setting, and we have the beautiful Irish brunet. Grey or blue eyes combined with fair skin and hair—the preferred of gentlemen. Glorious light or dark eyes with the glorious tints and shades of red hair, and behold—the beloved of the great artist, Titian. All types have their own appeal. Which is your choice?

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY
BREAKFAST—Sliced canned pineapple, cereal, cream, minced lamb on toast, whole wheat and raisin muffins, marmalade, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Creamed sweetbreads and mushrooms on toast, hearts of lettuce with French dressing, sliced oranges and bananas, drop cookies, milk tea.

DINNER—Casserole of macaroni and beef, corn and cottage cheese salad on fresh watercress, peach Bavarian cream, milk, coffee.

The success of a macaroni dish depends largely upon the selection of a good brand of macaroni, careful cooking and proper seasoning. Macaroni must be cooked until tender but not overcooked. Overcooking makes it mushy and sticky.

After cooking for twenty minutes in rapidly boiling water, drain and rinse in cold running water.

CASSEROLE OF MACARONI AND BEEF

One cup broken macaroni, 2 thin slices bacon, 1/2 pound round steak, 2 onions, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 cup boiling water, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 1-1/4 cup fresh mushrooms.

Cut bacon in dice and try out fat. Coarsely chop or dice beef. Add to bacon fat and brown well. Add onions cut in thin slices, water, tomatoes, salt and chili powder and brown sugar. Cover and simmer two or three hours or until the meat is tender. In the meantime cook the macaroni until tender. Turn into a buttered casserole, pour over the meat sauce to which the mushrooms, sautéed for five minutes in a little butter, have been added and bake twenty minutes in a hot oven. Serve at once from the casserole.

The mushrooms of course can be omitted but they add much to the savorness of the dish. Dried mushrooms can be soaked for an hour in water to cover and cooked with the sauce of canned ones, can be added in place of the fresh ones.

Household Hints

BOOK COVER
Bits of oil cloth can be stitched to fashion a book cover which will help keep fresh the delicately tinted covers of new novels.

CRANBERRY TOUCH
A little cube of cranberry jelly adds a touch of color and a very good flavor to any fruit salad.

MARKED LINES
If you do not use women names on your notes, each piece should carry your name, written in indelible ink. To mark, starch the goods, press it well, trace name with lead pencil and then ink.

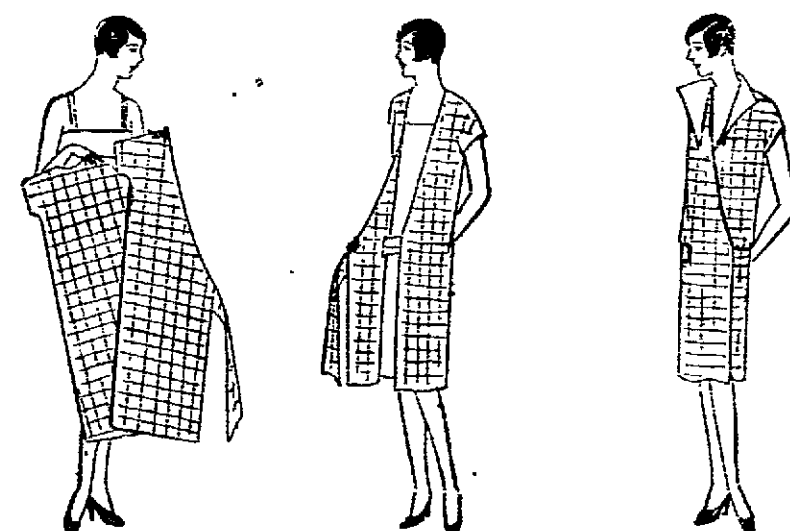

CEREAL CHANGE
If the children tire of their morning cereal, try serving with butter and a little sugar instead of top of the bottle.

TOMATO JUICE
When oranges get exceedingly high priced, strained tomato juice does quite as nicely for the morning drink. It can be given to babies, too.

TASTY FIGS
Instead of serving heavy cream over canned figs, squeeze lemon juice over them and add a dash of ginger to them.

DRESSES ON YOUR CLOSET HOOKS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

American women seem to have a little, or rose taffeta, and I think it for their color and style we buy it and wear it, regardless of how many others are blushing unseen on our closet hooks, half-worn dresses that would do nicely to the end of the season and that are going out of style with each tick of the clock.

I have been reading the clothes on earth that feels that way.

I suppose it is the American habit of tiring quickly of things, that crops out in the wasteful haphazard way most Americans have of buying.

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark
By SHIRLEY BLAKE

There is a beautiful even shade of dark glossy hair can only be had by having a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes, or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture. You can get this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for only 75 cents, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

budgets made out by home economic expert for business girls. It is amazing on how little a woman can dress and dress smartly. Personally I haven't much sympathy with budgets for no two women have the same dressing problem. But they conform in general so closely to the method used by experienced women of means when stocking up for a season's supply of apparel that it is of more than passing interest. A society woman wears clothes harder than anyone else. Her clothes are in constant service and they must be in perfect condition.

Yet by careful choosing, she often gets along on six gowns a season, including evening gowns, afternoon gowns, and sport clothes. She makes her list, chooses carefully and buys what she needs. It is the European plan and a good one. She has no left-overs and starts each season afresh.

Low Mark on Child's School Report Often Caused by This Neglect

Teachers urge mothers to guard against it at home

Such an easy care to give children? Yet success in school often depends on just this one thing. Teachers are urging mothers not to neglect it, because they see every day how lessons and games, too—slump when children do not have a hot, cooked cereal breakfast before they come to school. That's why, in 70,000 school rooms today, this rule hangs on the wall:

"Every boy and girl needs a hot cereal breakfast"

School authorities know that the energy needed for a busy day in school can be supplied only by a hot, cooked cereal.

It is one thing that they have recommended for 31 years is good old Cream of Wheat—full of the mental and physical energy that growing children need, and amazingly quick and easy to digest. Give it to your children regularly. Cream of Wheat Company, Minneapolis, Minn.

TOWNSCOUNCIL VOTES TO EXTEND TIME FOR PAYMENT OF TAXESVote Is 8 to 2 After Opponents Argue That "Poor Man Isn't Helped"

Kaukauna—It was voted to extend taxpaying time until March 1, at a special meeting of the city council Monday evening in the council chambers of the municipal building. The meeting was originally intended for Tuesday evening but upon advice of some of the large mills in the city who definitely wanted to know by Tuesday morning how much time would be to pay taxes Mayor W. C. Sullivan for the extension without the special meeting.

The measure passed the council 8 to 2 with Mr. H. Cooper and Ben Faust voting against it. George L. Smith told the council that he could see no reason for extending the time but several business men in his ward had requested the extension.

Those against extending the tax limit argued that over 65 per cent of the so-called poorer class had already paid their taxes and that this action was helping up only the big taxpayers, those who could well afford to pay their taxes. Mr. Faust showed where about half of the people had already paid and undoubtedly had to make a sacrifice to be able to do so. Up until Monday the Green Bay and Mississippi Canal Co. was the only big taxpayer to make a payment of taxes. It was pointed out that the small taxpayer would have to pay the penalty caused by the extension while those with large tax assessments who haven't already paid will make money on the city by drawing interest for the additional thirty days.

Many citizens appealed to their ward representatives and to Mayor Sullivan for the extension without the attached penalty of 2 per cent for late payment. Most urgent of all were the demands of the business people of the city that an extension be granted.

Tailors Helper Fugitive
After Bootlegging Career

San Francisco—Joseph J. Parente, who started out as a tailor's helper and at 38 became millionaire king of all the rum smugglers on the Pacific Coast, has reached the end of his string. The dramatic career that he built up—a career as colorful as any in the coast's history—apparently has come to its catastrophe.

Parente at present is being held in Canada as an undesirable alien. If he is returned to the United States, as seems likely, he faces prison sentences on half a dozen counts. His fortune has crumbled and his organization has gone to pieces.

Though dramatic, Parente's public career began only five years ago, when he emerged from San Quentin prison after serving a term for forgery.

He got a job in his uncle's tailor shop here, and seemed destined to continue his life as an insignificant wage earner.

BECAME RUM RUNNER
But it wasn't long before he had "got in" with the great Consolidated Exporters' Corporation, the Canadian booze outfit. And it wasn't long after that that he was a liquor runner in his own right, independently wealthy and waxing daily more powerful.

Parents controlled the rum Principio, "mother ship" of the rum fleet, a squadron of fast power cruisers and a big string of trucks and touring cars.

He would bring the Principio down from Canada laden with borden liquor. It would lie to, 100 miles off the coast, and transfer its cargo to the cruisers. The price there was around $20 a case. The cruisers would take the liquor ashore, landing it usually on the beach below Santa Barbara at daybreak, and sell it to the wholesalers for $45 a case. The wholesaler would sell it to the retail bootleggers for $70 a case and the bootleggers would peddle it to "the trade" at $100 to $120 a case. In all of these transactions Parente got a percentage.

There was often to go with this, of course. Graft Parente's cargoes were landed on wharves in San Francisco, where some official had been "fixed." One official was said to get $2 a case for sending along tips in advance of raising the price.

A RIDING WAR
Parente soon was the leading rum smuggler of the west. Vincent Quarterero once tried to compete with him. Parente slashed prices until bonded Scotch was retailing for $50 a case, and drove Quarterero out of business.

The big money came in so easily that Parente grew over bold. He formed a partnership with Herb Madden, mayor of Sanusanto and Ralph Owen, owner of the Ambassador Hotel in San Francisco. Owen became business manager of the firm and Madden, who owned a shipyard, looked after the boats. Goods were landed in Madden's shipyard.

This couldn't last forever. Not long ago federal officers got wind of the situation and arrested all three men. Owen and Madden went to prison. Parente jumped his $50,000 bail and headed for Canada, but now he has been arrested there and faces deportation to the United States. If he comes back he is almost certain to join his former partners in prison.

Nothing has so startled the community as the effect of Mars, a physician's prescription for rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica and lumbago. It is now in use at the local drug stores and is certainly a boon to humanity. It is so simple to use that it is possible to get relief in even the most stubborn cases of rheumatism. But it isn't anything of the sort, and to prove it, get the regular package from the drug store. Try it as directed and if it doesn't prove almost a miracle in driving away the pain, or if it doesn't do the trick, the pharmacist will refund the price you paid him for it. Ask at the drug store for a box of Mars on this guarantee.

SWEDISH SHIPPING
OUTLOOK IS GOODNew Fleet of Boats Will Greatly Increase Tonnage of Small Nation

Stockholm, Sweden—(AP)—Sweden's mercantile tonnage will be increased considerably during 1928.

Not less than 150 thousand tons of new ships are expected to be ready next year to fly the blue and yellow cross flag on the ocean. In Hamburg, the new motor liner "Kungsholm" will be completed as a sister ship to the famous "Gripsholm" and a valuable addition to the fleet of the Swedish American Line.

In Denmark three ships are being built for Swedish companies, and the Swedish shipbuilding industry also is busy building ships for Swedish or foreign orders. The big shipyard in Malmö, the Kockum, is building two tankers of 13,000 tons each, the biggest in their kind in the world. Both ships are chartered for ten years by an American oil company. In the famous Gotha shipyard at Gothenburg one tank motor ship of 9,000 tons, one tanker of 11,000 and two tankers of 3,000 tons are being built. Four of these ships already are chartered by the Anglo Saxon Oil Company.

The Eriksberg wharf in Gothenburg has soon ready for launching one more.

People over 40 have to be careful of their blood pressure. It's at this age, due to our abnormal living habits, that our blood pressure begins to slip up on us. And high blood pressure shortens life—may cut it off suddenly.

Modern living puts too great a pressure upon the vital organs, especially the liver. The liver becoming weak and sluggish fails to cleanse the blood of the poisons formed in food waste. The whole system then becomes toxic, with stomach, kidneys, heart and blood vessels affected.

The liver occasionally needs a little help, and there's nothing better for this as physicians agree, than ox gall. Ox gall is a remarkable natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning so essential to real health. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol. They cost less than 2¢ each at good druggists, and a few bring a delightful change.

To End Severe Cough
Quickly, Try This

For real results, this old home-made remedy beats them all. Easily prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous home-made remedy. The immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiac, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MENOMINEES BLAME
LA FOLLETTE LAW
FOR THEIR DISTRESS

Indians Tell Senate They Are Satisfied With Proposal to Dam Wolf River

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS

Washington, D. C.—A delegation of Menominee Indians composed of Jerome Law, Charles W. Chackney and Joseph W. Longley Tuesday continued their efforts to obtain a per capita distribution of $500 during the coming year and to obtain approval of a plan for a business council to conduct the affairs of the tribe.

Appearing before the senate appropriations committee, Law told senators that the Indians with nearly $3,000,000 in the federal treasury were seeing the old people die in some instances without enough money for a decent burial.

Appropriation of $500 each of their funds would still leave the Menominees with a comfortable fund in the federal treasury, Law said. There are 1925 Menominee Indians on the tribal rolls, he said.

Law blamed the La Follette Menominee act passed in 1905 for depriving the Indians of the voice in the management of their own affairs.

"Prior to the passage of the La Follette Menominee act we did our own logging and the Menominees were always in funds," Law said. "We are now recognized as citizens and as being civilized, yet it is a strange fact that we have less voice in our own affairs than when we were ranked as savages. We had a business committee until 1905."

The Indians also told Interior Department officials that they are not satisfied with the management of the sawmill at Neopit. Without any taxes to pay, with cheap labor and other expenses lower than any competing sawmill the return at Neopit should be larger, the delegation said.

The Indians also asserted that they are entirely satisfied with the present proposal of the Insular interests to develop power on the Menominee river. They said that the original proposal had not been satisfactory, but that the power development would lead to the creation of several new freshwater lakes around which could be built cottages, which they would rent to summer visitors. The Indians served notice that they would resist any effort of the state of Wisconsin to attempt to capture the Menominee power plant at the end of 30 years under the state law, upheld by the Supreme court last year. The Menominee treaty with the United States would supersede any state law on the subject, they said.

FAIRBANKS A DARING
GAUCHO IN NEW FILM

In Douglas Fairbanks' new picture, Douglas Fairbanks as The Gauchito, opening at Fischer's Appleton Theatre today for a 4 day run, he has the most dashing part he ever played. A gauchito is a picturesque nineteenth century character little known to the states and apparently destined to attract more than ordinary attention there as well as in South America.

The scenes of Douglas's plays have been set in France, England, Spain, the Antilles—and now the Pampas. The story has no definite locality but is laid in the Pampas regions at large, making no pretense at historical accuracy, but using the picturesque environment as a background for romance.

Douglas Fairbanks as The Gauchito is a tale of treasure, combat, intrigue and love, concerning the adventures of a bandit who crosses the Cordilleras with his riders to seize a city grown rich from the offerings of pilgrims to its sacred shrine. For the first time the star has two leading women, one a wild madcap, the other a saintly character. The production has a conflict of love interests, said to be much stronger than in any previous Fairbanks picture.

Under the instruction of real gauchos from Argentina, Fairbanks has become an adept with the boleadoras, which he uses in the picture as one of his many striking feats of prowess.

SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS
Rustic and warm human characters, emotions dramatic because they are colorful—these are, after all, the things that make the best motion picture story material.

Proof is afforded here by the current offering at the Elite Theatre, First National Pictures' film version of the Harold Bell Wright novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills." It is a worthy successor of the best big human screen plays of the past.

Admirable direction by Albert Rogell, who takes top rank in his profession by his work on "The Shepherd of the Hills," and splendid characterizations by a group of at least twelve fine players, are outstanding reasons for the success of this film. Certainly the story material taken from the "best-seller," in Marion Jackson's adaptation, is ideal film material.

This production brings the Ozark backwoods and its quaint folk realism.

NORTHWESTERN TAKES LONE HOLD ON SECOND IN BIG TEN

Purple Cagers Trounce Gophers In Rough Battle To Break Tie With Cards

Wisconsin Is Idle and Drops to Third as Minnesota Loses, 25-22

Chicago (AP)—Second place in the Big Ten basketball race Tuesday was occupied solely by Northwestern University with four victories and one defeat.

The Purple cagers took undisputed possession of the runner-up position Monday night by winning a hard, rough game with Minnesota, 25 to 22, at Evanston, Wisconsin, which had been tied with Northwestern for the position with three wins and one loss.

Minnesota was idle and dropped to third place. The Gophers to find the basket in the first 15 minutes of play caused their defeat. During the period, they were able to sink into three free throws while Northwestern scored 15 points.

In the second half, however, the Gophers rallied, overcame their opponents and the result was in doubt until the last minute of play.

The defeat gave Minnesota a zero average for its first road trip of the season, having lost Saturday night at Chicago. So far, Minnesota has won one and lost three contests.

Iowa defeated Creighton university, 39 to 28, in a nonconference game Monday night at Iowa City. Other Big Ten teams were idle.

JUNIOR BOOSTERS WIN FROM FRESHMAN QUINT

The Junior Boosters took a hard-fought battle from the Freshman Triangles Monday evening at the Roosevelt gym. The score was 22 to 12, McCanna leading the winners with five baskets and one gift shot. Klipspring followed close with four baskets.

Huesman played a stellar game for the losers. Freshman manager of the Boosters, challenged all teams of 11 or under for games. Tel. 1021.

DAW CINCHES BOWLING CONTEST WITH MARINO

Milwaukee (AP)—Charles Daw of Milwaukee, defeated Hank Marino of Chicago in the final bow of the 60 game bowling championship contest here Monday, rolling up a grand total of 13,105 to 12,766 total for Marino.

The Milwaukeean rolled his poorest block of the match, 2,018, while Marino shot 1,942. Daw's average dropped to 218.4 and Marino's tumbled to 212.7. With a margin of 264 from Sunday's block of 10 games, Daw boosted the difference to 380 in the first four games Tuesday with a score of 219, 193, 246 and 202. Marino, over the same span, shot 201, 169, 159 and 185.

Marino rolled a 50 pin in the fourth and seventh chapters, dropped the eighth by 49 sticks and then finished in front by a few points in each of the last two games.

Marino was handicapped from the fourth game Saturday because of a split thumb.

Marino was unable to keep up the same strike pace that his opponent set, getting off 45 pins in the 40th. He negotiated 50 spares, six more than Daw, but had ten splits, four of which he cut down. Daw had six splits and five errors. Marino had only three misses.

Monday's scores: Daw—219, 193, 246, 202, 182, 171, 206, 219, 191, 185—2,018. Grand average—218.41.

Marino—201, 169, 159, 185, 199, 200, 210, 176, 203, 214—1,943. Grand total—12,766. Grand average—212.74.

The date places the tourney just a week before the Men's Western Amateur Championship at the Bob O'Link club, Chicago.

Goal Tender In Hockey Needs Lots Of Practice

BY JOHNNY FARQUHAR

Madison—The goal tender should get out on the ice just as often as possible with the coach, instructing all the other players to shoot at him from every angle with all varieties of shots. Steady practice is most essential to perfecting the technique of this player.

The "goalie" should always try to remain on his feet as much as possible, not going down on his knees except in most extreme cases; namely to save a shot close in, or to prevent a goal from a scrimmage in front of the net.

The goal guard must learn to stop the puck with the hand on all high shots, in fact, whenever the puck is out of reach of the pads. The feet are always together so that the pads will never allow the puck to go between. The goal should be ever watchful of the position of his forwards and defense men when he has

MANY THANKS!

The success of any enterprise depends on the work and cooperation of the many persons engaged in "putting it over," it is often said, and that is true. It was true Sunday afternoon at the sixth annual Post-Crescent ice skating tournament and the sport staff of the Post-Crescent desires to thank anybody in any way connected with the meet.

Special thanks is due to Phillip Kreutzer, caretaker of the park who kept and cared for the rink and had the ice in fine condition, George T. Prim, chief of police and his policeman who patrolled the rink so efficiently, and the city park board of which Professor O. P. Fairfield is chairman which so kindly granted the use of the park for the boys and girls of Appleton.

Others who the Post-Crescent desires to thank are the Y. M. C. A., Coach Joseph Shields of Appleton high school, Walter Bell, Roy Levitt, Gordon McIntyre, Dick Wentzlar, Clarence Bentle, Maurice Carter, Harry B. Liech and Irving Weiss. All of the above mentioned loaned material for the tourney or assisted as judges, starters and other officials.

LEGION WILL DEPICT
PROGRESS OF DECADE

Billboards Throughout Nation to Carry Posters Symbolic of Efforts

Posters depicting the progress of the American legion during the first decade of its life will appear on billboards in and around Appleton for an entire month, starting early in February, it was announced Monday by C. O. Baetz, commander of Onee Johnston post. Arrangements have been made for the use of billboard space here during the month in order that the posters will be seen by the people of the city.

The posters will depict in a vivid way the real spirit of the legion. Commander Baetz said. They will be symbolic of the legion ideal of service to country in peace time as in war which the legion is carrying out in its community service, Americanism, political education, child welfare and similar activities.

The poster has been made up from a sketch drawn especially for the legion by Chester A. Bratten, a Chicago artist. It has a decorative background in which the main figure is the Goddess of Liberty standing with arms uplifted in consecration of the sacrifices made by the fighting men of America in the World War. In the foreground is a panoramic scene depicting the city, agriculture and industry. At the top is the name "American Legion" and at the bottom the slogan, "In Peace, as in War—We Serve."

COMPLIMENT HIGH FIVE ON CLEAN BASKET PLAY

Appleton high school's basketball team was complimented for its clean, sportsmanlike play in one of the fastest and hardest-fought games of the Fox River Valley conference last Friday evening at Manitowish. In spite of the speed of play and the terrific rivalry between the schools, the game was comparatively clean and free from fouls throughout, according to referee "Tiny" Cahoon, who complimented both teams. Cahoon is physical director of the Columbus club in Green Bay and a star lineman of the Bay Packers in the fall.

Philadelphia—Tony Canzoneri, New York, and Pete Nelo, Key West, Fla., drew (10).

COLLEGE SAYS TRAVEL
BIG AID TO EDUCATION

Madison—(AP)—The college of letters and science of the university of Wisconsin has made official recognition of the educational value of travel.

The faculty of the college voted at its January meeting to allow undergraduates credit for study in foreign universities, or on tour under the direction of a regular member of the college faculty.

Undergraduates enrolling in French of other foreign universities under what is known as the Delaware plan may secure not to exceed one year's credit for work done abroad.

Credit may be secured for work done abroad outside arrangements such as the Delaware plan or the travel work under the supervision of a Wisconsin faculty member under conditions laid down in the new legislation. Normally, however, not more than 4 summer session credits, or for any one semester of foreign residential study will be allowed.

FIRE WARNINGS SEEM TO DO LITTLE GOOD

Most Blazes Caused by Things That People Have Been Warned of, Report

A bulletin issued by the Wisconsin Industrial commission reveals that the most common causes of fire are those about which warnings have been issued for many years. Not only have warnings been issued annually but in simple remedies within the grasp of any man's intelligence have been neglected.

"People still persist in doing many of the foolish things which result in fire," George F. McGowan, fire chief, said as he noted the report, "and the terrible thing is that only a heavy loss of property or the death of some member of the family impresses them with the folly of their habits."

The following list of "never's" recently was issued by the state industrial commission:

Never look for a gas leak with a match, candle or open light use a flashlight.

Never use a violent match or candle in a gas leak use a flashlight.

Never connect gas stoves or plates with rubber tubing use iron pipes.

Never have an open gas light near curtains or draperies place guard around light.

Hi! Spy! With New Meaning
Is Popular Game In Europe

BY MILTON BRONNER

London—(AP)—No, this is not the old children's game of hide-and-seek. It is the game of the secret agents of Europe, who are now being hunted by the police and the army and navy.

France has been the scene of the spy war for many months. At the end of the last year a large number of secret agents at work in France and Russia were caught. The French government keeps the names of these agents secret.

An expedition has started from northern Egypt to study conditions of the desert of the Nile.

Until the League of Nations took a last in treaty to settle the scrap between Poland and Lithuania, each of these countries swarmed with spies from the other.

And to cap the climax, the Boles claim the new country is the greatest of all the states of Europe. Wrongly or rightly, they have captured nearly 100 persons a year who have been accused of being spies many of the unfortunate being Poles.

AGE FORTY—DANGER

Most people are dead at 50 because their vital forces begin to wane around age of 40. Elderly people fall easy victims to colds which often develop into pneumonia.

Enrich and fortify your blood. Stimulate your resistance. Remember that for a few cents you can get Bulgarian Herb (Blood) Tea from your druggist. Take it hot to break up your cold. Wise mothers and fathers make it their winter health guardian. adv.

We Repair All Makes of Furnaces

was the tremendous response during our last sale, we take, it was a confidence in what we say that brought these results, and we offer many thanks to our customers for their patronage. After ten years of business, it is indeed a pleasure to realize that the people of this community have placed a confidence in us—in our merchandise—in our Semi-Annual Sales—and in our advertising to such an extent that our last sale, which closed Saturday, far exceeded our expectations.

During our ten years of business, we have steadily held to three basic principles.

First—QUALITY—giving to our customers the best possible values in quality footwear.

Second—SERVICE—A cheerful smile, a friendly interest, an intelligent service, and a sincere desire to give our customers what is actually best suited for their needs. These things we believe compromise the modern idea of good service.

Third—A genuine knowledge of the shoe business as a profession—so that we may intelligently serve the best interests of our customers.

That we have succeeded immeasurably in living up to these ideals is attested by the customer confidence placed in us during the past year and especially during our last sale.

It shall be our purpose in the future, as it has been during the past ten years, to continue these ideals with the firm belief that by so doing we shall best be able to serve the interests of all.

Paper - one of Wisconsin's Leading Industries

The State of Wisconsin ranks fourth in value of pulp and paper manufactured. There are now about 60 paper and wood pulp mills in 32 towns with a capital amounting to $92,260,720 according to the 1920 census and estimated at $118,986,600 in 1923. The mills use 27% of the total horsepower used in the state in manufacturing 795,876 tons of paper using 1,086,616 cords of pulpwood or about one fifth of all the pulpwood annually cut in the United States. It required 204,895 cars in and out to move the raw materials and finished product.

Wrapping paper is the principle product forming 25% of the total value produced. Book paper is next representing 15.7%. Fine papers 12.7%, newsprint 12.1%. Board, tissue, hanging and other papers following. For every ton of cheese made in Wisconsin in 1923 we manufactured 5 tons of paper, for each ton of butter, 10 tons of paper.

The industrial giant pays over $6,500,000 annually into the public treasury in the form of taxes. It employs over 10,000 persons and pays over $20,700,000 a year in wages.

Paper and its allied industries has gone a long way toward establishing Wisconsin in the manufacturing world as dairying has done in agriculture.

This brief survey of this one industry perhaps shows in a small measure the tremendous market and buying power Wisconsin offers.

Over 70% of the homes in this great state can be reached thru the advertising columns of the Wisconsin Daily Newspaper League. One appropriation, one contract covers all of the 31 members.

Mr. H. L. Davis, Secretary of the League will send you further information about this unusual advertising service. Just send a letter to his office at Appleton, Wisconsin.

JACK LOCKWILL'S HELPING HAND

Reminded of that battle, in which he had been thrashed before Hargon took his place to meet the same fate, Maddox let his fist drop. "All I've got to say is that it's queer business," he growled, pocketing his watch. "That's right," Jack agreed, feeling in his own pockets. "Somebody's got my ticker, now. The thief was in this room while the game was going on!"

This affair, following so closely after the robber's night operations, set everybody talking. "I know the thief," asserted Ansel Grubb, "but I can't prove it—yet!"

In their room, Jack told Jerry Sinnott what had happened at the gym. "But they can't put it on you," said Jerry. "You don't need money bad enough to steal it."

Maddox was in his room when Joe Piper slipped in on him. "Well, I put it over the way you suggested, Cub," said Piper, "but he wriggled out of it." "I didn't tell you to take his watch, you little fool!" exclaimed Maddox, guardedly. "If you're caught with it on you, everybody'll believe you're the thief." The door opened quietly, and Lockwill entered. (To Be Continued)

SWEDISH BUSES RUN FARTHER THAN TRAINS

Stockholm—(AP)—The automobile is playing an increasingly important role in Sweden's communication. The railroads are recognizing its value so extensively that 24 privately owned roads are running passenger and freight buses, 21 lines operating their own motor cars and five being financially interested in automobile transportation companies. The post office department operates 20 coach lines over 1,500 miles.

There are at present 4,000 buses on the 1,400 bus lines in Sweden. The total length of these roads is 21,735 miles, while the total mileage of railroads in Sweden is only 16,999 miles. There are but 2,000 railroad stations in the country, while buses make stops at not less than 15,000 to 20,000 places.

AGED ENGLISH STATUE IS FINALLY GIVEN NAME

London—(AP)—For 250 years King Charles I. has sat on his great bronze charger at Charing Cross gazing down Whitehall at the spot where he lost his head, and unidentified for as long as his reign. He is now named "The King" and his statue is to be unveiled on Monday.

Charles' statue was cast in 1633, but the civil war broke out before it had been erected. By order of the Cromwellian parliament it was disposed of as "junk" and stood in a shopkeeper's garden in Holborn until the Restoration when Charles II ordered its erection near the site of the old Charing Cross in Trafalgar Square where it stands today at the head of the famous thoroughfare flanked by the principal buildings of the government.

Industrial Commission to Sponsor Hearing in Milwaukee, Feb. 7

Madison—(AP)—Public hearing on tentative orders for hours of work of women telephone operators will be held at the Hotel Elston, Milwaukee, at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 7. Where exchanges have 2,000 or more phones, two provisions have been suggested. One is that if all of a woman's work is done between 6 a. m. and 6:30 p. m. on each day of the week, or on each day of the week, but one, she may be permitted to work not more than nine hours in any one day during that week and to exceed a total of 50 hours during the entire week. The other is that if any part of a woman's work is done between 6 a. m. and 6:30 p. m. on more than one day in any one day during that week, not more than a total of 45 hours during the entire week.

DEFINE "DAY SHIFT"
The tentative orders also specify that the "day shift" shall mean from 6 a. m. to 10 p. m. of the same day and the "night shift" shall mean from 10 p. m. to 6 a. m. of the following day.

According to the orders, the regulations shall not apply to women employed in telephone exchanges which are located in private residences and in which the work is done exclusively by members of the family. Special order of the industrial commission would be required.

NEW TEST FOR DRUNKS
London—(AP)—English justice ruled that if two lines of a man's breath contained 1.5 milligrams of alcohol, the man was 10 per cent drunk and guilty of drunkenness. Then someone discovered that a football bladder would hold about two litres of breath. Now when an Englishman, brought in for drunkenness, denies the charge he is forced to blow up a bladder. If he cannot blow him to be more than 10 per cent drunk, the magistrate invariably holds a conclusive and lands on a stiff fine.

PLEAD INSANITY TO SAVE WOMAN HELD ON CHARGE OF ARSON

Mrs. Margaret Hicks Had "Spells," Relatives Testify in Trial Here

More than 20 witnesses had testified up to noon Tuesday in the trial of Mrs. Margaret Hicks, 55, Milwaukee, charged with setting fire to her house in New London on July 26.

The trial opened Monday morning in the upper branch of municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg and it was not expected that the case would go to the jury late Tuesday afternoon.

The prosecution introduced witnesses who said they saw Mrs. Hicks in New London on the morning of the fire. The defense apparently is endeavoring to prove insanity.

The defense made no attempt up to Tuesday noon to refuse state testimony. Witnesses for the defendant tended to show Mrs. Hicks had spells of insanity.

Dr. Adin Sherman, superintendent of the Northern Hospital for Insane at Winnebago, the first witness Monday afternoon, said Mrs. Hicks was not insane when she released from that institution on Nov. 9.

Edwin Marsh, clerk of a New London hotel, testified Mrs. Hicks had been in a room at the hotel early in the morning of the day of the fire, but did not sleep in the bed and left the next morning without paying her bill.

Marsh was the only state witness positive he saw Mrs. Hicks in New London on the morning of the fire. Albert Stern, night patrolman at New London, testified he saw a woman resembling Mrs. Hicks on the street early the same morning but his identification was not positive.

Julius Marks, who lives near the house that burned, told of discovering the fire and turning in the alarm. Others who testified for the state were Gils H. Putnam, postmaster at New London, and F. O. Archibald, who estimated the value of the property; E. W. Wendlandt, mayor of New London, and Detective John Duval of Appleton, both told of conversations with Mrs. Hicks.

Fire Chief C. J. Dean of New London, told about the fire and said the cause was unknown. N. D. Lucke, police chief at New London, told of conversations with Mrs. Hicks, and W. E. Finnegan, Green Bay, deputy state fire marshal, who investigated the fire and procured the warrant for Mrs. Hicks' arrest, told of his investigation.

Gustave Krueger, J. H. Heath, Mrs. George Fuerst, Rose Kische, and Mrs. Esther Pelkey, all of New London, testified.

Sheriff Otto Zuehlke and Mrs. Zuehlke described Mrs. Hicks' actions while confined in the county jail before she was adjudged insane and committed to the hospital at Oshkosh. The sheriff testified Mrs. Hicks was sane.

KEEP WITHIN MEANS, COOLIDGE REQUESTS

plate the building of the ships as fast as possible.

Cautioning against departure from the policy of keeping governmental expenditures within receipts, Mr. Coolidge pointed out that any surplus at JUMP HERE.

Mr. Coolidge was applied to the public debt, the reduction of which, he said, is in itself indirect tax reduction.

"I have expressed myself in favor of further moderate tax reduction," the president said. "I have indicated the maximum reduction we can now afford. There was no partisan thought in that recommendation. I hope there will be none in its final consideration by the congress."

MUST LIMIT SPENDING

"We must not depart from the wise policy established and thus far rigidly followed in keeping our expenditures within our receipts. That I had in mind in making my recommendation. It has made a rich contribution to the present splendid financial status of the country. It has enabled us to hire money at a lower rate than any other business in the world. It has been effective in the maintenance of prosperity. It has the hearty endorsement of the taxpayers."

"That policy of a balanced budget—expenditures within receipts—must not be molested. It must not be endangered. The great good which has come to this country from a balanced budget is too measureless, too far-reaching, even to suggest any other course. This nation is neither too weak nor too improvident to meet its obligations when they occur."

"The budget for 1919 which forecast a surplus of $252,540,000 is now before the congress. The action so far taken by the congress on that budget indicates no intention of diminishing the expected surplus. With a continuation of the efforts for economy in federal operations we can have a moderate surplus when they occur."

"That it is much easier to borrow money than to pay it, Mr. Coolidge said, is shown by the fact that the national debt was increased from slightly over $1,250,000,000 to nearly $28,600,000,000 from 1917 to 1919. Although the debt was increased approximately $25,000,000,000 in about two years, he said, it has required more than eight years to reduce it by $3,500,000,000, leaving the debt at approximately $18,000,000,000. Since the declaration of war in 1917, he pointed out more than $17,000,000,000 has been paid in interest and principal.

"We cannot overestimate or over-emphasize the importance of the reduction which has been made in our debt," Mr. Coolidge added. "Our interest cost is still a great burden. The cost for next year, however, will be $1,000,000 a day less than it was at the peak of our interest charges."

EASIER TO BORROW

"Past economy has given us the means for internal improvements and developments and more adequate national defense. But we cannot stand the cost of the things which we should and must have, if we adopt excessive tax reduction. It is far better to have a moderate reduction than to have too much. We have the public debt to which to apply every dollar of whatever surplus may accrue. That, indirectly, is tax reduction. Every dollar applied to the debt saves perpetually the interest on that dollar. It is a contribution to the welfare of the people, a logical step nearer adequate tax reduction."

Turning to the Democratic ranks, the W. C. T. U. president said the nomination and election of Gov. Al Smith of New York would be a wet victory.

WOMEN GIVE LINEUP OF DRY SUPPORTERS

Temperance Union Appraises Candidates and Makes Their Stand Known

Chicago.—(P)—The relative "dryness" of presidential timber was appraised for the woman voters Tuesday by Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, as she called upon candidates for every public office to align themselves clearly for or against prohibition.

Uttering the keynote address at W. C. T. U. leaders assembled to draft the 1928 campaign plans, Mrs. Boole reiterated the organization's demand for a dry plank in the platforms of the major political parties.

On the Republican side, Mrs. Boole said, President Coolidge and former governor, Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, were proclaimed dry. Senator Borah of Idaho, Secretary Hoover and Senator Frank E. Willis of Ohio were placed in the same category as was Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas.

On the other hand, Mrs. Boole declared, former senator Wadsworth of New York is "clearly wet." Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, speaker of the house, was "voted with the drys but is personally a wet" and "Vice President Dawes has never declared himself."

Turning to the Democratic ranks, the W. C. T. U. president said the nomination and election of Gov. Al Smith of New York would be a wet victory.

Mrs. Boole placed Governor Ritchie of Maryland and Senator Reed of Missouri in the category of wets as proponents of repeal and modification of the 18th amendment.

The show almost falls into the light opera class and because of the many song numbers, the cast was chosen with a view to obtaining the best singers in the city.

Every one of the soloists, have shown talent in past Appleton productions and in high school or college operettas or have been trained at Lawrence Conservatory of Music. Of the men, J. M. Van Roy and Joseph Lanzberg are especially well known for their singing in home talent productions. GET LINDY HERE AND AIRPORT IS ASSURED, LIONS CLUB IS TOLD

Appleton Will Get Airport if Sufficient Enthusiasm Is Aroused

Aviation, its progress, its future and the failures which have retarded it were discussed for Appleton Lions at their regular weekly meeting and luncheon at the Conway hotel Monday noon. The speaker was John P. Wood, state representative of the Advance Aircraft company, Troy, Ohio, and for the last 11 years closely connected with aviation. Last year Mr. Wood took part in the Ford reliability tour and in the Spokane air derby.

Mr. Wood also made reference to the possibilities of an air port for Appleton. He said that if the city could get a good temporary field and invited Colonel Charles Lindbergh here on a business visit to put the airport over, Appleton probably would have a modern air port over night. He said Wausau is trying to have Lindbergh visit that city but because of the great demand for the famous flyer, this is impossible for many months.

The progress of aviation is best shown by the development in general last year, many of which are directly the result of Lindbergh's exploits, the speaker said. About 600 new airports were opened in this country in the last year according to Mr. Wood, and there could not over airports if Lindbergh would visit them and arouse the necessary enthusiasm.

The future of aviation lies in its capacity for transportation. Mr. Wood said. In the mean time there must be something which will turn the minds of people to the possibilities of aviation.

Commercial air service had been retarded, the speaker said, by the hundreds of old machines and motors which were in use after the war. Manufacturers could not compete with these planes and motors in general, which often did not stand up under even ordinary usage. As these planes have passed from the picture and manufacturers built new ones, the outlook of aviation has brightened.

NEBRASKAN'S PLAN TO ASSIST FARMER IS MUCH DIFFERENT

Would Banish Importation of Coffee and Tea and Have It
Grown Here

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—Some members of this Congress are content to create and vote for farm relief measures the effect of which can't possibly be foretold until they're tried. A few are working more quietly toward some surer though less spectacular method of helping the farmer.

One, at least is working in both ways. He is the Hon. Robert E. Howell, the other senator from Nebraska.

Senator Howell has been promoting programs looking forward to the time when American farmers may be able to produce the great quantities of sugar and tea consumed in this country, which are now imported.

If that could be achieved the farmers should be much better off. And if the same principle could be worked to the extent of making us entirely independent of foreign farm products, it might become a vitally important factor in solving the general farm problem.

The farmer's main ailment, as has been explained times without number, is overproduction. The remedy most frequently advanced is diversification of crops. The trouble with diversification seems to be that, like farm production, it can't be controlled.

Too much uncontrolled diversification would spread the ailment of overproduction.

On the other hand, if American farmers can take overproduction of commodities now produced abroad for American consumption, that's all to the good. Acreage thus devoted can be taken from acreage now contributing to overproduction.

In 1926 the United States imported 95,930,000 pounds of tea, valued, according to the Department of Commerce, at $21,249,000. In the same year, we imported 9,540,000 pounds of sugar valued at $22,320,000.

If that sugar and tea could be produced at home, the benefit would be the farmer's.

Some time, Senator Howell has seen ballooning artichokes for domestic sugar, and cassia mate, a species of holly growing from Virginia to New Mexico, for domestic tea. He has been sponsoring such minor legislation as is necessary to carry out experiments with these plants to produce them to the farmer.

Levulose is 75 percent sweeter than sugar and is a desirable sugar in every form," says Howell. "I believe that the artichoke can eventually be made the mainstay of our national sugar supply and largely relieve us from the necessity of importation."

So Howell has sent Department of Agriculture bulletins on 10,000 New England farmers recommending that they experiment in growing the tuber.

More recently Howell has adopted cassia mate, hoping to obtain congressional support for what he believes may become an important new industry for the south. About 3000 pounds of cassia grows to the acre and G. F. Mitchell, the Department of Agriculture's tea expert, estimates it now grows wild on about 40,000 acres. The Argentinians consumed 145,500,000 pounds of tea from yerba mate, which is similar to cassia mate, in 1926, and it is claimed that American cassia mate tea could be sold for 25 cents a pound as compared with a dollar for similar imported tea.

"This American plant is better than the tea plant in some ways," Howell says. "It contains less caffeine and much less injurious tannin—about 8 per cent as compared with 24 per cent for the tea plant."

LOWER PRICES FOR SKINS IS REPORTED

Number of Pelts Brought to Local Market About Normal,
Dealers Say

There is a normal number of furs being sold to local dealers by trappers, a condition which has been prevalent throughout the season and previous to the last few weeks prices being offered were also normal, dealers say. However, a noticeable decline in prices has taken effect with the tendency to unload, on the central markets.

A recent issue of a trade paper for fur buyers and sellers states that receipts continue in fair volume and skins of all kinds are accumulating. The forerunner of low prices. The most noticeable thing about the market is that a slight decline has already started which will continue or increase in the next month.

The more valuable skins are holding their own as far as price is concerned, it is noticed in market quotations. The same situation exists in this vicinity with good prices being offered for raccoon, and mink furs while rats bring much less.

Fur dealers also state that there are fewer fur bearing animals being caught in this district. As the territory is being used up and the fur is forced from its haunts, fur bearing animals go further north where there are game refuges, or die out. Only the hardier type animals continue to live and breed in the locality.

Night Coughs Quickly Relieved

Stopped in 15 Minutes with Throine

Most coughing is caused by an irritated, inflamed throat or bronchial tubes which cough syrups and patent medicines do not touch. But a famous physician's prescription recently discovered called Throine goes direct to the cause, relieves the inflamed membranes and stops the cough almost instantly. One swallow does the work, and the remarkable thing about it is that it contains no dope, chloroform or other harmful drugs. Pleasant tasting. Safe for children. Once used the whole family will rely on it. 35c, 60c and $1.00. Sold by Vogt's Drug Store, Selling Bros. Drug Stores and all good drug stores.

Are you fooling yourself three times a day?

THAT caffeine beverage you take with your meals—it seems to "pick you up"—to make you feel better.

Don't be fooled! It's the warmth of the drink that brings an immediate sense of comfort. The caffeine gets in its full effect hours later, when you want to relax and rest or sleep. Then this artificial stimulant lashes your nerves—drives sleep away—keeps your brain pounding when you long for rest.

Try this test!

Make this simple change in diet: Give up caffeine—try Postum instead! Postum's friendly warmth and mellow flavor will give you the mealtime "pickup" you want. And it won't get on your nerves afterward! For Postum is made of roasted whole wheat and bran—not a trace of any stimulant in it. Postum can't affect sleep, can't cause nervousness or indigestion, as caffeine beverages do.

The best way to test Postum is to make it your mealtime drink for thirty days. Then note the difference in your health! See how much better you sleep—how much better you feel! Get Postum at your grocer's—either Instant Postum, prepared instantly in the cup, or Postum Cereal, the kind you boil.
